Burglars broke into the Carson Lime Company's powder house at Riverton on Saturday and stole a quantity of dynamite, with which they blew open the safe in the Riverton Mills office. Timber Ridge Church, in Rockbridge county, better known as the Old Stone Church, was yesterday, after extensive improvements had been made during the summer and fall, rededicated with imposing ceremony. A large congregation was present from the surrounding parishes. The sermon of rededication was preached by Rev. Dr. G. B. Strickler, president of the Union Theological Seminary, of Richmond. A LAVISH ENTERTAINER.—Thomas F. Walsh, "The Gold King of Colorado," intends giving the American commissioners to the Paris Exposition and about two hundred friends a stiff down the Potomac river to the Tomb of General Washington next Thursday, and for that purpose has chartered the steamer Chesapeake. Already designers of flags and decorations are at work on the boat. Fine tapestries will ornament the walls, flowers, potted plants, palms and expensive rugs will be scattered from the pilot house to the engine room. It is estimated that the trip for one day will cost the Colorado millionaire many thousands of dollars. There will be music and refreshments. Mr. Walsh's own party of liveried servants will be in attendance. After an inspection of Mount Vernon the party will steam down the river and view the scenery, returning to Washington shortly before nightfall. Mr. Walsh says he earned his money easily and that he intends spending it the same way.

[COMMUNICATED.] I understand that the Woman's Auxiliary will give a supper at Odd Fellows' Hall on Wednesday and Thursday nights of this week, at the very reasonable price of twenty-five cents. Every one who has served supper will attend, and I would advise those who have not, to procure tickets at once, for truly these suppers are something wonderful for the price. Lee Camp is to be congratulated on its auxiliary, for no camp that I know of has its equal. These energetic women are earnestly endeavoring to complete the improvements around the monument, which will, when finished, not only be the most beautiful monument I know, a fitting tribute to Alexandria's gallant sons, but a very decided improvement to our city; let us hope the beginning of greater and more extensive improvements. I sincerely hope our ever ready city council will respond liberally to the collectors, who are soliciting oysters, turkeys, chickens, &amp;c., &amp;c., or the equivalent, money. Let everybody buy a ticket, and thus let these persevering women know that this old town of ours heartily endorses this first great step towards better streets.
